Jose Limon Group to Give Final Concert of Year

by Jim O'Brien

Muscular Jose Limon, generally acclaimed as the top male modern dancer in the Americas, will present "Theatre in the Dance" in the college auditorium on Wednesday evening, Feb. 29.

Mr. Limon and his company of two men and four women, a company "not only artistically admirable but remarkably handsome to look at," will dance four numbers.

Angel Gets Last Word

In one of the numbers, a girl angel is restless—especially when the transition of girl into angel has deprived her of the last word—amorously speaking. So . . . Angelica returns to complete some unfinished business.

The other acts are Concerto Grosso, Night spell, and the Moor's Pavane. This last ballet presents variations on the theme of Shakespeare's Othello.

The dexterous movements of this style of dancing convey emotion. In the opinion of Mr. Limon, "the function of dance is to communicate emotional experience in terms of abstract movement. Therefore I am primarily concerned with the inner conflicts of men . . . the basic emotional experience common to all men." It is Mr. Limon's contention that the communication of experience is the very heart of the theatre.

Mr. Limon does not confine himself merely to dancing. He invents new dances and new dance themes. He experiments with different types of dancing. He teaches dancing in schools throughout the country.

Limon Directs Infantry

During the second World War, Mr. Limon served in the Army. While stationed at Camp Lee, Va., he won nationwide acclaim for a dance-drama he directed, entitled "We Speak for Ourselves." In this production Mr. Limon not only danced the solo part, but also composed the musical score and directed a dance chorus of 12 husky infantrymen.

Mexico is the native country of this brilliant dancer. Through his success Jose Limon has achieved the stature of a national hero, and has been invited to spend several months in Mexico each year. Months in which to continue his fine work.

Includes Guest Artist

Besides Mr. Limon, the all-star company includes guest artist Pauline Koner; former Jooss Ballet star Lucas Hoving, Betty Jones, Ruth Currier, and Lavina Nielson. The concert pianist is Simon Sadoff, who is also musical director of the company.

Doris Humphrey, one of America's great choreographers, is the artistic director.

The nimble Jose Limon and two members of his company are seen performing one of their stirring dances. Mr. Limon, regarded as the greatest dancer in our hemisphere, will bring his company to the Collegeville stage Wednesday night.

Ride Bureau Needs to Have More Drivers

Twenty drivers, and fifty riders placed their names on the "ride bureau" list Feb. 9 in the cafeteria. It was the first weekend of a four-week "tryout" to determine whether or not a "ride bureau" will be established permanently.

Officers of the Sanguinist club, the organization which is sponsoring the bureau under the supervision of the Student Council, felt the first week had been successful in spite of the fact that many students remained on the campus because of the Mardi Gras dance and adverse driving conditions due to a heavy snowstorm.

More drivers are needed, however, to fill the demand for rides. Drivers and riders are urged to refrain from placing their notice on the bulletin board as this not only defeats the purpose of the "ride bureau" but also results in confusion.

Observe 40 Hours Over Week-end

The beginning of the Lenten season was marked by the observance of a 40 Hours Devotion over the past weekend. The period of the Devotion was closed for all Catholic students.

A Solemn High Mass on Friday morning began the weekend ceremonies. On Friday evening Benediction was held for the sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Saturday morning the Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament was followed by a High Mass for peace, and in the evening Benediction was held for the freshmen. A Solemn High Mass on Sunday morning was followed by a procession and Benediction, bringing the 40 Hours to a close.

Students volunteered to spend at least a half hour apiece in adoration of the Blessed Sacrament during the time it was exposed.

Fort Wayne Club Elects DeWald

Newly elected officers of the Fort Wayne club are: Edwin DeWald, president; Tom Neuman, vice-president; Tom Kinstle, treasurer; and Bill Becker, secretary.

The Fort Wayne club is the newest club on campus. Its members are St. Joseph students whose homes are in Fort Wayne or the immediate vicinity.

The main purpose of the club is to promote social activities in Fort Wayne for its members. There is a dance tentatively planned for the Easter vacation.

Membership, dues, and general business of the club headed a recent meeting, Thursday, Feb. 16. There are about 30 members in the organization at the present time.

Murphy, Salerno Appoint Committees

by John J. White

The Junior Prom Committee has just announced the signing of the Billy May band featuring Sam Donahue for the biggest event on the Collegeville social calendar. The fieldhouse will be decorated and arranged for the estimated 250 couples who will dance to the music of the band on Saturday, May 19.

Sam Donahue

Plans have been brewing in every phase of the operation which precedes the prom. Jim Station, junior class president, has announced the position of Prom chairman will be held jointly by Glenn Murphy and Al Salerno. These men have in turn appointed a committee of fellow classmates who from now until the night of the Prom will be working to insure the continued success of the Prom tradition.

Ed Mohr and Phil Hughey are found heading the all-important decorations committee upon which much of the success of the Prom depends. The workers who will wait on tables and assist Prom-goers are under the direction of Jim McGuire and Frank O'Reilly.

The handling of the housing end of the Prom is the job of Kevin Gallagher. Bill Swanston has the responsibility of ticket reservations which is often one of the toughest of the Prom assignments. In the tailoring business may be found Dick Flynn who is in charge of tuxedo arrangements for the Prom-goers.

Encouraging as large an attendance as possible are the publicity chairmen, Ray Malik and John White. Ron Keller and his staff are at work on the project of obtaining patrons and sponsors to help underwrite the cost of the Prom. Ray Gobreille is serving as band chairman while Tony Smith functions as weekend chairman.

Inasmuch as there will be food served at the Prom, arrangements are being handled by refreshment chairman Charlie Vietzen. Tickets and favors are being entrusted to the responsibility of Gene Salda. Besides these men class officers Bernie Balas and Larry Stark are serving as members of the committees.

Literary Contests To Offer Total Of $90 in Prizes

St. Joe students are being offered a total of $90 in prizes through two literary contests, the Alumni Essay Contest and the Pursley Creative writing Award.

The Alumni Essay Contest carries with it prizes of $25 and $15. Any type of literary essay, factual, speculative, or personal, is acceptable here, with the exception of honor theses or research papers.

The Pursley Contest offers a single $50 prize and the entries must fall within the classification of "creative writing: expression of a theme through an organized, imaginative, fictitious, unit."

Three typed copies (double spaced) must be submitted for each entry, and the title page must contain the title of the work, the writer's pen name, and the contest being entered. Also, for each entry include a slip of paper with your pen name and your real name place this slip within an envelope containing the title and your pen name.

The entries may be given to Rufus Esser or any English professor, and the deadline is May 1. Except for previous winners, all students are eligible.

Summer Sessions

Summer sessions on campus this summer will last from June 18 to July 28, according to Dean Edward Maziarz. In addition to regular course offerings, there will also be a theology and physical education course for Sisters. Last year there was an enrollment of 120 Sisters, and an increase is expected this summer.

Deferment Test Deadline March 5

Students interested in taking the Selective Service college qualification test have until midnight, March 5, to submit application according to Rev. Edward Maziarz. The test itself will be given here on campus April 19.

To be eligible to apply for the test, a student must intend to request deferment as a student, be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction, and must not have previously taken the test. Materials concerning the test are available in the registrar's office.

Let's Back Team Against Valpo!

As the basketball season draws to a close, we can glance back over it with a great deal of satisfaction, for the team's showing has been a pleasant surprise to all. In the games already played, the Pumas have matched with hustle and fight what they have lacked in actual material.

Their fine showing reflects a great deal of credit upon Coach Dale O'Connell, who has molded the team members into a smooth unit that's made a more than respectable showing in the tough ICC.

There are others to whom a word of appreciation is also due, though, besides the team members and coaching staff. First a word of thanks to Willie Walters and his fine crew of cheerleaders, Urban Thobe, Chuck Donnelly, and Bob Gontko for their hard work on behalf of the team.

Next to Father Kuhns and the band for livening up the time-outs and half-times with their music. And last, but certainly not least, to the student body itself, whose support of the team several times sparked them to that extra effort needed for victory.

But if that extra effort will ever be needed, it will be in the last game of the season, Feb. 28, when the Pumas play host to the Crusaders from Valparaiso. Valpo will come here expecting to win, and will bring many fans to the St. Joe fieldhouse anticipating a victory. And on paper a Valpo victory does seem likely.

But even an advantage in size, experience, and depth can be overcome by a team possessing fierce determination and will to win, as the football team proved to Valpo's dismay last fall. Fenger, Banary, Jancich, and the rest of the team members will show that determination; the rest of the job falls upon the student body.

It is up to us to be there for the game and to back the team to the hilt.

We have, however, a second duty besides rooting for the team on the court, and that is to set for our visitors an example of Christian conduct. Let's yell then, and give Valpo a lesson in school spirit, sportsmanship, and basketball.

If we do this, then come Tuesday night we may well see a disillusioned band of Crusaders mournfully trudging their way back home to the back-ground accompaniment of the St. Joe victory bells.

Somebody Called These The Good Old Days?

by Tom Mahoney

Have you been to the Post Office yet today to check your mail? If you have you've just gone through one of the inconveniences with which Joe Puma of the nineties did not have to bother. His mail would be handed to him two afternoons a week after being carefully inspected by his Rector.

And just how much does the idea of a study period before breakfast appeal to you? This too was a part of the everyday routine of a St. Joe student in the days of the school's infancy.

Why not take a look at the daily schedule of the students at it appears in the catalogue of the 1891-92 school year?

Daily Exercises

5:00 a.m. Rising and morning prayers.
5:30 a.m. Mass.
6:00 a.m. Study.
6:30 a.m. Breakfast and recreation.
7:15 a.m. Classes.
9:15 a.m. Classes or studies.

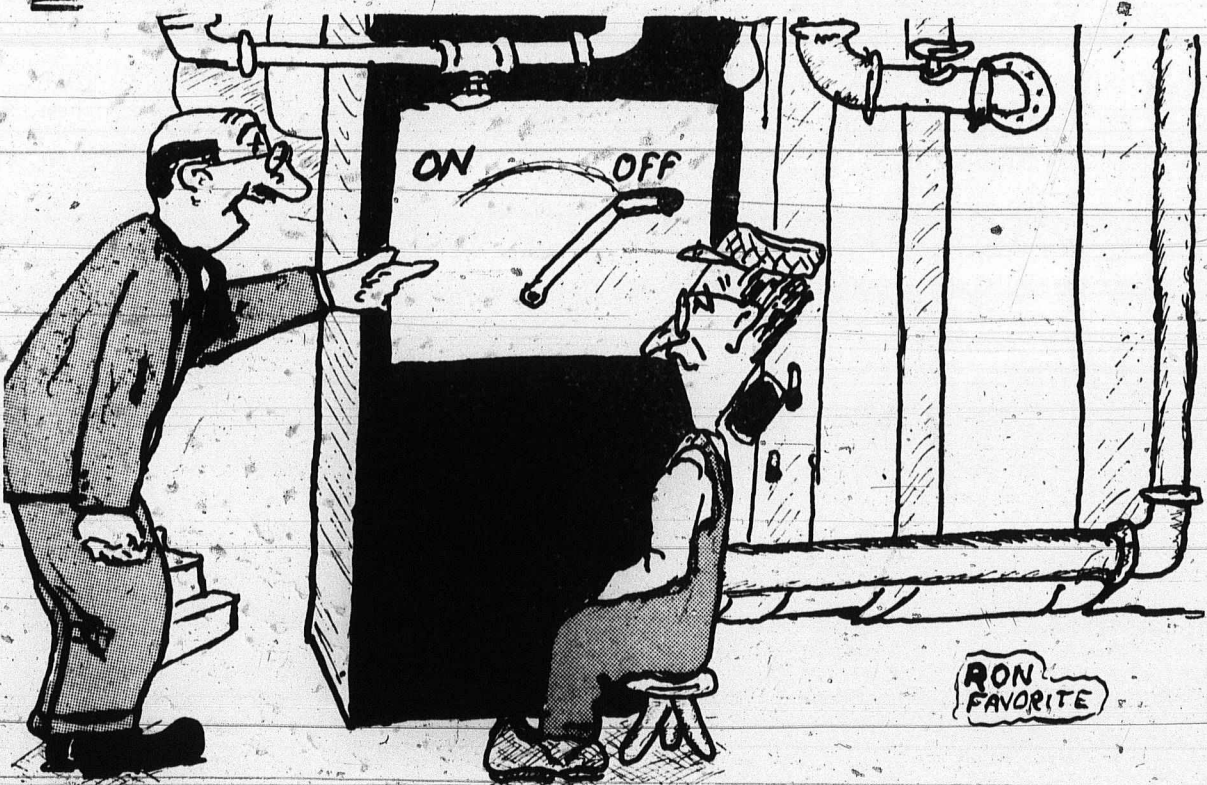

10:00 a.m. Recess.
10:15 a.m. Classes or studies.
12:00 M. Dinner and recreation.
2:00 p.m. Classes or studies.
3:45 p.m. Recreation.
5:00 p.m. Studies.
6:00 p.m. Supper and recreation.
6:45 p.m. Benediction with the Blessed Sacrament.
8:00 p.m. Studies.
8:30 p.m. Night prayers-retiring.

The student was expected to remain at school during the entire semester, and the semesters then were about the same length as they are now. Smoking and drinking were forbidden, as was the keeping of money on one's person.

But let it not be understood that all was gloom for the 54 students who attended that first year, for on Sunday morning they were permitted to sleep until 6:00, and on special occasions, with permission of course, they were allowed to visit Rensselaer.

By George! The business world sure will use a man of my capabilities to make things hum in the front office!

Think you can handle it, Son?

Ride Bureau Fills Longstanding Need

The need for some sort of system whereby drivers and riders traveling to the same location could get together has been a longstanding one here on campus. Thanks to the Sanguinists, the problem may now be well on its way to solution.

The ride bureau which they have established is on an experimental basis for one month. Therefore its success depends upon the cooperation of the student body.

It is a project well worth keeping, and we thank the Sanguinists for establishing it.

Contests Deserve Student Support

Through the Pursley Creative Writing Award and the Alumni Essay Contest St. Joe students are being offered an excellent opportunity not only to win some money, but more important, to improve themselves by the process of organizing and thinking through a theme.

A great deal of urging should not be necessary then to stimulate a real interest in these contests. But judging from the response to such contests in the past, most of us will become momentarily enthusiastic, then shrug off the idea without giving it a real try. The most common trouble seems to be the attitude, "Well, I haven't got much of a chance to win anyway."

This is exactly where we go wrong in our thinking, because there really are no losers in a contest of this sort. Even though we may not win any prizes, there is always the satisfaction of knowing that we have improved ourselves intellectually, and that we have done our share toward promoting a worthwhile campus activity.

A second reason why many probably fail to enter these contests is a fear that their entry will appear as a molehill among a mountain of literary gems. Actually such a fear is unfounded, and the judges expect the literary quality to be on the student level, not that of professional excellence. So you don't have to be a budding Hemingway to walk off with the laurels.

The final objection to giving these contests a try seems to be the question of time involved. It is true that many of us have busy schedules, and cannot afford to spend a great deal of time away from studies and other campus activities.

But by and large most of us seem to have plenty of time to waste, and since the deadline of the contests is more than two months away, there are very few of us who can't really find time for something so worthwhile.

Dear Students

February 16, 1956

Dear Students:

God bless you for the "Valentine" that you sent to the missions through Father Schaefer. In the name of the Precious Blood missionaries in Chile I thank you sincerely and assure you of a special remembrance in their Masses and daily prayers.

The size of your gift to the missions ($1.170.40) is a very pleasant proof of my own repeated assertion that the youth of today are as good as they ever were and that despite the unpleasant publicity given to the antics of a few, the great majority of young people are a credit to Church and Country. So I congratulate you on your fine spirit and pray God to continue to bless you and help you in all your undertakings.

Yours in Christ,
John Hoorman, C.P.P.S.

Congratulations to Jim Station, the outgoing editor of Stuff, on the fine job he has done. Real progress has been made in the paper's favor; and we look forward to continued progress under the new editor, Tom Mahoney.

Schaeffer Lake has been moved. No longer in the region of Monticello, the beautiful lake bearing Fr. Schaeffer's name is now located right in his front yard. Wonder if he had it moved. Real cool drainage!

Elephant vs. Mule

What do you think of promoting on campus Young Republican and Young Democrat Clubs? There seems to be plenty of interest and it could result in a lot more. Since this is an election year there would be no better time to get such organizations started. At the Citizenship Clearinghouse meetings held in Indianapolis last year St. Joe was one of the few colleges of those represented that did not have active political organizations on campus.

These organizations can be very informative and enlightening; they can sponsor debated and social events, and the student can actually partake in "grassroots politics." Both parties have special programs to aid in setting up these clubs on college campuses and will aid them in obtaining speakers. "They" Are "We"

A student might well have a duty in taking an interest, if not an active part, in politics. To answer the often heard accusation that politics is dirty, it can truthfully be said that politics is "just as dirty as you allow it to be." This is why politics gets dirty—because so many of us sit back and say that we'll let "them" worry about how "they" are going to run things. It is forgotten that the government is "We."

A voice within a party is one that can be heard and can have some influence. A voice from without goes unheard and is limited at most to merely accepting or rejecting what others have planned. In view of this, party politics definitely have a place on a Catholic college campus, for are not college graduates expected to be leaders in their communities?

Faculty in Favor

Of a small number of the faculty contacted on this proposition of forming such political clubs on campus, the opinion was definitely favorable, even encouraging. Maybe we can get them started here at St. Joe. It would be a good thing.

This column wholeheartedly agrees with the editorial in the last issue of Stuff concerning the inadequacy of the road going past the tennis courts that we are confined to use. It is a real threat to fenders.

What would happen if someone would stumble Sunday morning after Mass on the way to breakfast? And Gene Rihm thinks that we definitely should have two doors in the Post-office.

New Feature Next Issue

Beginning with the next issue, STUFF will carry as a new regular feature an interview column. Molded along the lines of the 'roving reporter' type of column found in many large daily newspapers, it will present student opinions on controversial questions.

This column will be handled by freshman Dave Bauer. The questions to be used will be ones of general student interest, and will not necessarily be limited to campus affairs.

Suggestions by students concerning possible questions for use in this column will be welcomed.

FORT WAYNE, IND. DAN RECENTLY SMASHED THE RECORDS WITH HIS 37 POINTS AGAINST IND. STATE

Jancich Hits 34 as Pumas Down Ball State 91-80; 9 in Row Here

Led by Greg Jancich's 34 points the St. Joe Pumas extended their home winning streak to nine straight by dumping the Ball State Cardinals 91-80 before a capacity crowd at the St. Joe Fieldhouse on Feb. 14.

By beating Ball State, the Pumas gained vengeance for the 106-67 shellacking handed them by the Cardinals a month ago at Muncie.

Unimpressed by State's height advantage, the Pumas belted out a 44-37 lead at halftime. At the offset of the second half, however, St. Joe went into a momentary slump, missing their first 11 shots from the floor. Ball State took advantage of this slump to knot the score at 49 all. But the Pumas came alive again to turn the game into a rout and won going away.

Jancich's 34 markers, high for the night, came on 10 field goals and 14 free throws. John Casterlow led all Ball State scorers with 28 points.

Keglers Face DePaul Sun.

by Tom O'Rourke

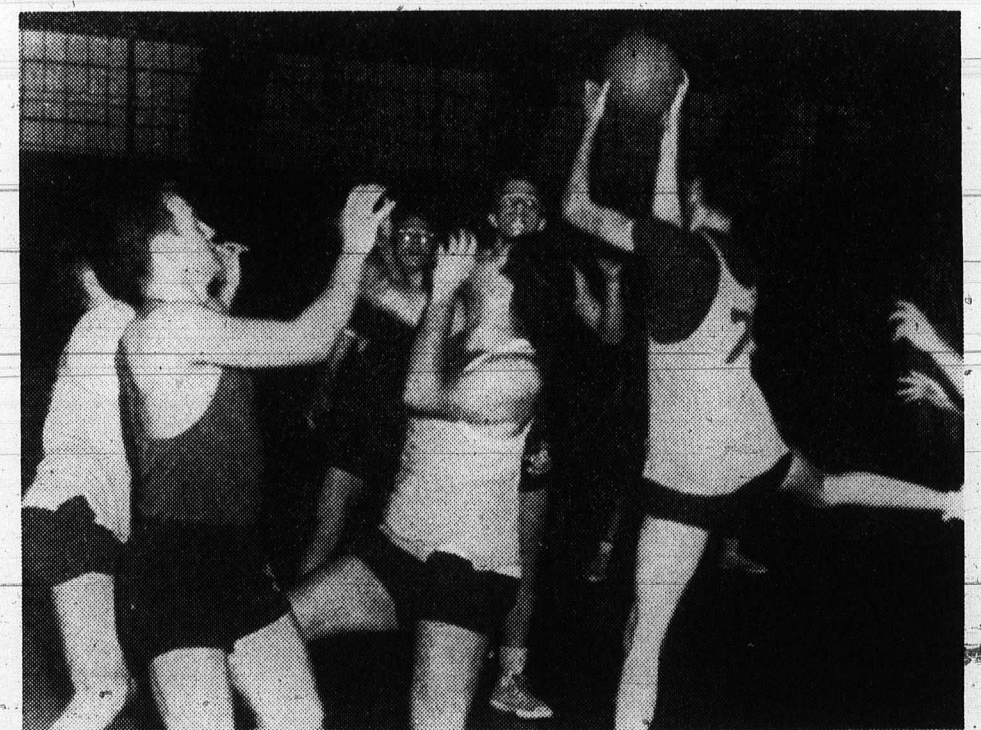

On Sunday, Feb. 26, the Puma keggers will be out to avenge their earlier loss to DePaul. The match is scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. at the Maple Lanes Bowling Alleys. Let's get out and give the boys some support Sunday so they can win these five games.

As a very successful intramural bowling season comes to a close we find the "Five Pins", in the Tuesday League with a substantial lead over all three leagues with regard to actual number of pins. With just one more week of IM bowling remaining, it is very likely that they will represent St. Joe at the Extramural meet next month.

The Student Council sponsored post-season tourney is scheduled for March 6, 7, and 8. Only teams that participated in IM bowling leagues this season will be permitted to enter the tournament. The winning team will be decided on the number of actual pins bowled for three lines plus the handicap established at the end of the regular season.

The winning team in each league will bowl five games on a handicap basis to decide the St. Joseph's College champion. The date for this roll off is as yet undecided.

The Puma net squad closes its season with the awaited return match with Valparaiso here on Feb. 28. Regardless of what has gone before, these two teams traditionally give their everything in an effort to win this big one. For St. Joseph's, dethroning the Crusaders is sufficient to merit a label of success for the season. Their win streak was broken last year with Valpo's 75-61 victory.

This year the Pumas need the victory to avenge their foul-marred 85-81 defeat in Crusader-land in January. The first meeting between these two clubs offers little criterion for speculating Tuesday's outcome. With Fenker and Jancich seeing little action because of their five personal fouls, high scoring honors went to Dattoma and Alstadt for St. Joe. Now, with a new starting lineup and the fans' support, the local quintet will furnish a renewed opposition for Valpo to hurdle.

The visiting club boasts a veteran squad, led by seniors Tom Sittler at guard and Bob Jarm, 6 ft. 5 in. forward. Both men are averaging better than fifteen points per game. Complementing the big team are 6 ft. 5 in. Ed Eckart at the other forward and the six-and-a-half foot rebounding specialist, Neil Reincke, at center.

The Crusaders sport the top defensive average of 69.8 points in the I.C.C., while St. Joseph's 84 points per game is the league's poorest average. Offensively, the situation is reversed with the Puma's 78-point average good enough for second, and Valparaiso placing last.

Thursday, Feb. 23, the Pumas travel to West DePere, Wis., for a non-conference tilt with St. Norbert's. Earlier in the month at Collegeville, the Green Knights were defeated 89-73, when, after a tough first half, the O'Connell men racked 50 points to coast to an easy win.

Cagers Bow 74-58

At Butler in ICC

St. Joseph's College traveled to Indianapolis on Feb. 18 and were handed a 74-58 setback by the Bulldogs of Butler University.

The victory compensated Butler for the 77-75 loss suffered at the hands of the Pumas on Jan. 10 at Collegeville.

The Bulldogs overcame an early St. Joe lead and held on against all Puma comeback attempts to win their 13th game of the season against nine defeats. St. Joseph's record now stands at nine victories and seven losses.

High point man was Ted Guzek of Butler who registered 29 points. Dan Rogovich was high for St. Joe with 19 markers.

Varsity Views

by Tom Phillipp

St. Joseph's track mentor, Coach Virgil Robbins, will serve as honorary director at the third annual running of the Wabash Relays in Crawfordsville next April, as a tribute for his fine record at that school. Mr. Robbins, who has been coaching track now for 33 years, holds a couple marks of his own that have stood since 1923. At Wabash he ran the mile in 4:23.6 and the half-mile in 1:57.0.

Revamped Program

At St. Joseph's, his teams have represented the school around the state since 1954 when Mr. Robbins revamped the meager track program. Though no definite plans have been made for this spring, the coach is optimistic with his hopes.

We would like to see this sport continue to progress at Collegeville, especially since St. Joseph's is within reach of the All-Sports Trophy this year. The talent is here, particularly in the running events, as the trophies and medals from the '54 Rose Poly Relays will attest; only the interest and support remain to be seen.

Team Effort

These same Wabash Relays are unique affairs in that the stress is on the importance of team performance rather than individual ability. Winners are determined by the total height or distance made by the three-man teams in each of the field events. There is no winning school, just victors in the 13 events.

For small schools, where the talent is limited, this set-up seems very practical, for the absence of reflection on the school eliminates a lot of pressure on the participants. Evidently other schools think so, because the popular meet draws over 200 athletes, representing more than 10 midwestern colleges each year.

Avenge Defeat

The Collegeville cage crew can swallow that lump in their throat after making up with Ball State for their earlier 39-point defeat. More than that, they put the Muncie men back in their place—in the cellar—with their good showing. Though playing against a hot-and-cold club, the Cardinals didn't show much under pressure of a close score—which probably explains their season's poor success. Among the highlights: Elbert's rebounding, Rogovich's defense, and, of course, Greg Jancich's point production. It was the Pumas' ninth consecutive home win since their opening defeat at the hands of Wabash.

Let's repeat the revenged defeat. BEAT VALPO!

Intramural Scoreboard

by John F. White

Although things seem to be fairly clear cut in the bowling end of the Intramurals, the picture in the basketball outlook is anything but clear. As of this writing any one of 10 teams could be the school representative at St. Norbert's.

In the A League it looks now as if the Leftovers are in the driver's seat with only one defeat. The Bulldogs fell twice in one week to the Vets and to the Gamokes, the latter in a double overtime which the Merlini men finally copped by seven points. The Leftovers only remaining game is with the Bulldogs and if the seniors repeat their earlier win over the frosh it will force a playoff between the Leftovers, Bulldogs, and Vets to decide the A League championship.

Puppies Lead B League

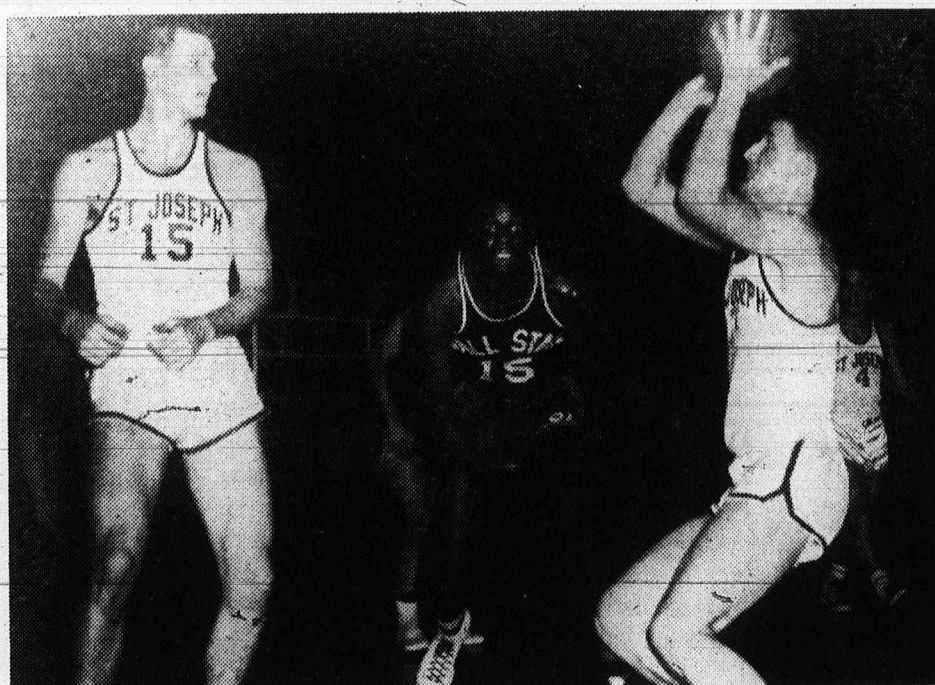

The Puppies, led by big Bill Riffe who threw in 34 against the Ad Kats, are atop the heap in the B League. They have only the Noll JV to meet to take it. Should they lose to the juniors the B League would be thrown into a four way tie for first between the Puppies, the Noll JV, 7-Sevens and the Illini.

The Demons are the only team to stand in front of the Starvation 5's bid for the crown in the C League. Should the Starvation 5 drop their last one and the Demons win, these two would have to play it off to see who would meet the other two league winners.

Three Winners To Meet

After all league winners have been decided the three champions will meet to see who goes to St. Norbert's.

So far the volleyball rosters have been coming in quite slowly, and it appears that only a few teams will vie for the Extramural trip.

Big Greg Jancich sets himself to add two more points to the Puma total against Ball State. The ex-Whiting star collected 34 points as St. Joe avenged an earlier humiliation at the hands of the Muncie crew. Glee Club Heralded At Chicago Concert

by Manuel Pasquil

Many congratulations were in store for Fr. Lawrence Heiman, director of the SJ glee club, Extension chorus, and St. Francis Chorale in a concert given Feb. 12 at Thorne Hall, Chicago, Ill., from an audience of about 400.

Among the many compliments was the following that Father received from Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wiatr of Chicago—"We have heard many concerts in our life but we doubt if any of them were so enjoyable as the St. Joseph's concert in Thorne Hall."

Displays Publicize Concert

The concert was publicized in the Chicago area with a window display consisting of pictures of the Glee Club, the St. Francis group, and Father Heiman in all the Lyon-Healy Music Stores.

Previous to the Chicago concert, the Singing 17 was called upon to provide a program for the Hazelden Country Club, Brook, Ind. Feb. 9. After an hour and a half rehearsal with the entire glee club, they presented a program of 25 minutes at the club.

About 15 other concerts are scheduled for the second semester for the Glee club and Singing 17. The next one will be given in Crown Point high school March 1.

Political Discussion Increases Interest in Current Affairs

'Will 1956 be a year for the Democrats or Republicans' was the topic discussed in the Merlini Lounge under the sponsorship of the History club last Feb. 7.

Fr. Cletus Dirksen and Al Salerno presented the Democratic picture in opposition to Fr. Charles Robins and Hal Pluth, the Republicans. Pluth was a last minute replacement for Ed Mohr who was ill. Mr. Richard Kilmer acted as moderator.

By previous agreement the speakers were limited to five topics, farm problems, foreign policy, economic status, public power and government efficiency. A crowd estimated by Fr. Donald Shea, History club moderator, at 110 persons jammed the lounge and asked several questions from the floor.

Fr. Shea said that the reaction has been good and that the project "has increased student interest in current affairs." He said he believes that more affairs of this nature will be forthcoming.

Joe Kewley and Bob Smith, students who attended, praised the discussion and suggested that the topic could be more limited in the future, and that more cross questioning among the participants would be better.

St. Joe Offers Scholarships

Twenty thousand dollars in scholarships is being offered by St. Joseph's to worthy high school seniors throughout the country.

To inform high school seniors of these scholarships, Rev. Richard Baird sent letters to high school principals throughout the country. These principals are to relate the news of these scholarships to the seniors of their respective schools. Qualifying students will take a scholastic aptitude test given by the College Entrance Examination board.

March 17 is the final date on which a student may take the scholastic aptitude test (morning test) given by the board if he wishes to meet the deadline for a St. Joseph's scholarship.

Inquiries and applications concerning the scholarship program should be addressed to the Admissions Counselor, St. Joseph's College, Collegeville, Indiana.

Geologists to Take Tri-State Trip

The Geology club will take an 1100 mile field trip this spring covering three states. The members will visit the oil fields and fluorite mines of southern Illinois, the iron and granite mines in the St. Francis mountains of southeastern Missouri, and the limestone district of Kentucky, including Mammoth Cave.

The purpose of the trip, according to club director Rev. Carl Nieset, will be to acquaint the student with the geological resources of these regions. It will last four days: April 28 to May 1. Fr. Nieset and Dr. Elmar Walters will be in charge.

Fr. Nieset also announced that William Zakes had been elected to succeed Robert Michalski as vice-president of the club.

Weather Limits Dance Attendance

Eighty-five couples attended the Mardi Gras. Bad transportation caused by a heavy snowstorm made it impossible for the 63 other couples who had purchased tickets to attend.

Shadows of red, green, violet, and blue were cast over the dimly lighted dance floor by two large revolving lights. Three thousand multi-colored balloons hung from the ceiling. All of these were broken at 12:30 a.m.

When Johnny Lane played "When the Saints Go Marching In," dancing stopped and the dancers gathered around the bandstand to listen.

The 40 new tables bought by Fr. Schaefer and the Student Council were used for the first time.

Frank Unger, dance chairman, wishes to thank the freshmen and also the upperclassmen for their wonderful turnout in helping to decorate the hall.
